Here's The Low Down From Hickory Grove

Now and then I thumb my way through a Canadian paper—and you know, those Maple Leafers, independent and workers that they are, they sometimes find themselves in a jam like we do over here on our side of the border—after the horse is gone. And it comes from listening to the medicine men who sell new ideas on reaching the millennium quick—short cut.

I just been reading about their "Hydro" over there in Ontario. Hydro is what they call their state-owned power system that for 20 years has promised so much—but which now has started to mire down under a debt of over a billion bucks—a threatening power shortage a boosting of rates. And Hydro has been exempt from taxes of 9 dollars a horse-power for years, while the private outfit left the way pay full taxes.

Hydro is the "Sacred Cow of Ontario politics"—as a Toronto paper calls it. Now, don't look superior like or snicker or say what kind of hombraes are these Canucks, listening to such weird and wispy political plaver, letting the "people have the profit." Down Memphis and Chattanooga way we have the same kind of mistake to clean up—TVA.

And the thing to do is, dust off our vest—admit we been a sucker—grasp a couple times—get Sambo out from behind the switchboard, and pronto. Your with the low down.

Entered as second-class matter March 29, 1905, at the postoffice at Statesboro, Ga., under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Why Is Memory?

As a rule man's a fool—
When it's hot he wants it cool;
When it's cool he wants it hot,
Always wanting what it's not.

WITHIN RECENT DAYS we ponder certain recurring events, and noted the variability of reaction on the part of some persons who command attention. We have been impressed by the difference in the attitude of many persons.

The thought has come that the changeableness of men is largely due to their memory, of things good and bad. And we looked in a book of information—Lincoln's Library, with 2,174 pages—treating scientifically with everything imaginable, to find an explanation of the changed attitudes of reason—and we found there is no scientific standard by which to predict the reaction of memory to any incident of the past. The final measure-up of memory and forgetfulness leaves us with the thought that a good forgetter and a good memory are of about equal value.

The matter which brought this reflection to our mind was the recent national election, wherein about two-thirds of the voters of the nation dismissed all memory of the former regime of the Republican party and returned the candidate of that party to position of supreme responsibility for another period.

If you readers of this paper can recall important facts, you will bear testimony to the fact that twenty-odd years ago the banks of Statesboro were going on the blink. For a brief period there was not a single local bank open to render service. The Republicans had been in power—and had brought the climax, if political position counts at all in such matters.

Then came a restoration of the Democratic party, and a restoration of confidence. Prices went up, because dollars were abundant—and yet there were more men who had grown wealthy, and found fault with the party under whose administration this had come about.

If you read the recent financial statements published in this paper, you were given a lesson on the matter of abundance. Every bank is overflowing with cash, whereas twenty-odd years ago (when the Republican party had ruled for consecutive years), bank depositors were required to accept scraps of paper as partial satisfaction for checks on the banks.

In Statesboro today there is one financial institution serving a thousand persons, which carries a capital account of almost exactly $2,000,000, which institution began sixteen years ago in a sort of modest way with $5,000 in cash which had been scraped together as a sort of modest adventure.

If you had taken the little time with pencil in hand to add up those financial totals shown in the recent bank statements (the two in Statesboro and one at Brooklet, besides the private bank at Portola), together with the figures enumerated above from the First Federal, you will have noted a grand total of $10,766,752.87 assets, as compared with that period exactly twenty years ago—when the Republican party was being turned out for inefficiency. And yet strange to contemplate, there are persons who today are simple enough to rejoice at the prospects of the future at the hands of those powers which left us so flat twenty years ago. A good forgetter cures many wrongs, to be sure!

How long, oh! how long before we may witness a return to the condition which the party again placed in power left us twenty years ago? Who, remembering, can joyously return to those conditions and still count ourselves intelligent?

NO TRESPASSING

All parties are hereby warned not to hunt, fish, cut or haul wood, or otherwise trespass on any of my lands in Bulloch county under strict penalty of the law.

Program For Survival

COMMENTATORS and columnists have all been speculating on what Mr. Eisenhower's government fiscal policy will be. The consensus, based on his statements and those of his close advisors, runs about as follows:

Spending will be cut in every possible direction. Waste and non-essentials will be curbed. Every effort will be made to balance the budget immediately. Once that is done, taxes will be reduced both for business and individuals. There is a possibility that the so-called excess-profits tax will be abandoned entirely when the current law expires next June. This tax, most economists agree, is an unfair and dangerous burden on business—and most especially on the smaller business which is deprived of funds needed for growth purposes.

That, so far as is now promised, will be the Eisenhower program. It is not an exaggeration to say that, on the modern farm, the machine has displaced hand labor. It does the work much more economically and efficiently than is possible with human muscle. And its usefulness is not limited to the production of crops. The machine makes it possible for the farmer to conserve and improve his soil and to fight successfully against such old natural ravages as floods and erosion. The machine gives more food from fewer acres today, and at the same time assures that the soil will be fertile and productive tomorrow.

As everybody knows the prices of goods have increased heavily in recent years. What most of us apparently don't know is that wages have increased much more percentage-wise. From 1914 to 1952 the price index rose 165 per cent, while average hourly earnings in manufacturing jumped a whopping 660 per cent.

Various influences have contributed to holding down prices. One is competitive retailing. Mass distribution, which was pioneered by the chains long ago, has been as important an influence in American life as mass production—indeed, neither could work efficiently without the other. The basic idea behind both is to do business at a small unit profit—and to earn a fair total profit through big volume. Competition forces all retailers to continually seek ways to reduce overhead and pass the savings on to the consumer.

TAX BOOKS NOW OPEN

Tax books are ready to make state and county returns, and receive your homestead exemptions. Books close March 21st.

Taxpayers met in the court house and demanded reduction in tax valuations for the county.

Symbol Of Vast Change

EVERY PHASE of human life has been revolutionized in the last century. And nowhere have there been more spectacular changes than in the oldest industry of all—agriculture.

One hundred years ago four out of five people worked at the job of producing raw materials for food, clothing and shelter. Today these basic needs are supplied by just one out of five. And even that doesn't tell the whole story—for we have far better and more varied foods and other products of agricultural origin than in past times.

This is very largely the result of the application of the machine to farm jobs that were once accomplished slowly and laboriously by hand. It is not an exaggeration to say that, on the modern farm, the machine has displaced hand labor. It does the work much more economically and efficiently than is possible with human muscle. And its usefulness is not limited to the production of crops. The machine makes it possible for the farmer to conserve and improve his soil and to fight successfully against such old natural ravages as floods and erosion. The machine gives more food from fewer acres today, and at the same time assures that the soil will be fertile and productive tomorrow.

The plow, the seeder, the harrow, the cultivator, the tractor, the combine and all the other machines symbolize the amazing advances agriculture has made in the span of a long lifetime. And they symbolize, as well, farmer's present-day status as a business and a profession.

"People Back Home"

TAXPAYER'S DOLLAR, a publication of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, recently had this to say: "Economy in Washington is possible only if the people back home genuinely want it, and work for it. There are two ways in which the people in the cities and states of the nation can work for economy."

"First, they can see that no pressures are put on the government for more spending. Almost everybody wants economy, but almost everybody also has some pet projects on which he thinks federal money ought to be spent. An $80,000,000 budget is made up in large part of these pet projects. A million here and a million there. By refraining from such pressures, and by urging others to do the same, the people back home can ease the burden on the taxpayer."

"Second, they can urge action for economy on the government both in the executive branch and in Congress. In a democracy, it is the right and duty of the citizen not only to vote, but to take an active and continuous interest in his government. Federal spending—and taxes—are certainly among the foremost concerns of every citizen."

In the long run, the people get the kind of government they want and deserve—whether it be economical, efficient government, or wasteful, corrupt government. One of the most undesirable practices of recent years has been the way all kinds of local groups, including most chambers of commerce, have demanded government economy—and then demanded right along with it appropriation that would put tax money in their pockets. If we are to have economy, there can be no exceptions.

Soil Testing Unit

Visit Bulloch County

The mobile soil testing unit from the College of Agriculture, Athens, will be in the county on February 4 at the Bulloch county court house. Dr. Joel Giddens, soil testing supervisor for the University of Georgia, has advised County Agent Byron Dyer, that he will be with the unit again.

The unit was here in the fall and could not handle all the samples brought in. Those who desire samples tested are urged by the county agent to procure them a few days in advance so they will dry out some before Wednesday. If Dr. Giddens can not test all that is brought in on this trip, he will take the others with him and give a report back here in a week.

Here's The Low Down

From Hickory Grove

Am just back from a little jaunt—a pulse-feeling trip—choosing to find out how folks are feeling since the November fourth apple cart fall. And in one sentence, it is "they feel better." It has been many a moon since I have observed such a feeling of confidence and faith—like when you step off of timber, quiver, thin ice onto terra firma itself.

Passing a fish market in Santa Cruz, there sat Antonio on a bench, leaning against the wall in the sun. Tony, my man, I say, my word, you can't sell fish sitting there. Don't care to sell much fish—I relax, he says. If I work hard, sell lots of mackerel, have little left after taxes. If I relax now, sell less fish, have about the same after taxes. Pretty soon, he says, maybe taxes less, then I relax less, make some dinner, can keep and put in the bank—not give all to Govt.

There it is folks—people are waiting for a lessening of the size of the case of the privately-financed from their earnings. If the Govt. now, will do its part, Tony and everybody will roll up their sleeves, go to work—produce more, sell more fish—and still have more left to put in their own little pocket.

Yours with the low down,
JO SERRA.

ROARING TWENTIES BACK IN STAGE PRODUCTION

If you remember the low waist, the days of the Charleston, "spit curls" and yellow "slickers" (or even if you don't remember them), you'll enjoy the Statesboro High School Beta Club play, "Turn Back The Clock." We see the funny courtship of Mr. Hill (then Charlie Hill) and Mrs. Hill (in those days Evie Palmer) in the age of the Charleston, the raucous overcoat, ukuleles, and painted jalopies.

The cast included Jane Morris as Evie Palmer, the love-mad teenager; Bobby Donaldson and Jimmy Bland as Evie's suitors, Jere Fletcher as "Dad" Palmer, Evie's bewitched father; Margaret Ann Dekk as Mrs. Palmer; Glenn Jennings as Larry Palmer, Evie's collegiate brother; Jean Martin, as Evie's "kid sister," Sybil Grimes, as Hilda, the maid; Lynn Smith, as Phillis McSorley, Evie's rival; Johnny Adams, as Ollie Bannister; Doris Rucker, as Maybelle, the flapper; Nancy Stubbs, as Irene Isherwood; Charlotte Blitch, as Babe Bannister; Mary Jo Johnston as "Chubby" Buscomb; Jo Attaway and Harville Hendrix as Evie and her husband today.

The date, Wednesday, February 4, in the High School auditorium. There will be a matinee at 2:30 and an evening performance at 8:15. Admission will be 50 cents for adults and 35 cents for students.

CONTRACT BRIDGE CLUB

The Statesboro Duplicate Contract Bridge Club held their regular weekly session at the Jaekel Hotel Thursday evening, January 22nd at 8 o'clock. H. G. Aaron and George Scarborough won first place, Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Mullinix, second, and Mrs. H. G. Aaron won third. The top three pairs get rating points from the American Contract Bridge Club. Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Mullinix, of Savannah, were among the visiting players. Mrs. Mullinix is one of the players in the Southern States Contract Bridge Club. She and her husband, Mr. Mullinix, are playing in the Atlantic City, N. C., and Quincy Blackburn and Misses Jessie La and Janice Clarke served a delicious salad course with coffee.

The dining table was overlaid with a cutwork cloth centered with a crystal bowl of yellow chrysanthemums, yellow glads and fern, the fern extending down the table and entwined around the five-branched candelabra lighted with white tapers at each end of the table. The gift rooms where the many beautiful gifts were displayed were attended by Mrs. Rupert Clarke, Mrs. Claude Clarke and Mrs. Claude Almond. Mrs. R. L. Bramblett and Miss Bonnie Clarke served punch on the pine paneled sun porch from a linen and lace-covered table centered with a beautiful hand-painted bowl. Approximately one hundred and fifty guests were invited to call between 2 and 5:30 in the afternoon.

PROTECT TIMBER FROM WOODS FIRE

Methods Are Outlined For Best Ways To Increase Conservation Of Timber

With Bulloch county today in the midst of its annual dangerous wildfire season, special precautions are necessary when farmers and landowners burn brush in or near the woods.

These necessary precautions are listed today by the Bulloch county Forestry Unit with the realization that carelessness with brush fires and other control burnings is one of the most common causes of wildfire in this area.

Carrying out the following precautions when burning brush will help keep Bulloch county's forests green.

1. Plow a firebreak around the area when the brush burning is to take place.
2. Burn after 4 p. m. only. The wind is not as high at that time of day as earlier, and there is less likelihood of sparks being carried across firebreaks to set fire to adjoining woods.
3. Having help, tools and water on the scene may have many acres of valuable woodland.
4. Burn on calm days only. Brush burnings have a dangerous element even on calm days; when the wind is high, brush burnings are even more dangerous.
5. Check with your Bulloch county Forestry Unit to learn whether or not brush burning is safe on that particular day. The telephone number is 501-L.

Several members took part in an apple bobbing contest, and William Russell and Billy Bland were featured in two short skits that brought down the house with laughter.

AECK ASSOCIATES, ARCHITECTS,
140 Peachtree St., N. W., Atlanta, Georgia.
New Construction for the Bulloch County Board of Education, Statesboro, Georgia. (Piney Woods Elementary School; Cotton Patch Elementary School.)

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS.
Sealed proposals will be received by the Bulloch County Board of Education, owner, at the office of the superintendent of Schools, county court house, Statesboro, Georgia, until 2:30 p. m. Eastern Standard Time, March 2, 1953, for construction of Piney Woods Elementary School and Cotton Patch Elementary School. Proposals will be publicly opened and read aloud at that time.

The work consists of:
Two new white elementary school buildings, Piney Woods Elementary School, located north of Statesboro and west of North Main Street, on lands formerly owned by Walter Alderman, and Cotton Patch Elementary School, located at the corner of Jones Avenue and Sunday street, Statesboro, Georgia. These new buildings contain classrooms, toilet rooms, boiler rooms, offices, clinics, lounges and corridors. They also contain a canteen, cafeteria and assembly with kitchen facilities.

Type of construction will be concrete slab on ground with asphalt tile, masonry walls and steel columns supporting steel roof beams with built-in composition roof decking. The roof will be 20-year built up; windows commercial project; heat shall be with oil boilers and a hot water distribution system to convectors and unit heaters.

There will be four separate proposals covering the work. Proposal No. 1 will be for the building covering the Piney Woods school; Proposal No. 2 will be for the building covering the Cotton Patch school; Proposal No. 3 will be a bid covering the combined work at both schools, excepting that the two schools may be built consecutively rather than simultaneously as required by proposal No. 3.

Definition of consecutively should not be interpreted as meaning the finishing of one building before starting the other, but rather a procedure of the contractor attempting to schedule the execution of building, such as brickwork, etc., at one site than the other. The premise is that by not duplicating in their entirety specific operations that at one time can be effected to the owner although one job would not be finally completed at the same time as the other.

Drawings, specifications and other contract documents are open for public inspection at the Atlanta Builders Exchange, Dixie Contractor, and Dodge Reports, and at the office of Aeck Associates, Architects, 140 Peachtree Street, N. W., Atlanta, Ga., and the office of the Superintendent of Schools, county court house, Statesboro, Georgia.

Plans, specifications and other contract documents may be obtained at the office of the architect. One set will be issued to general contractors upon payment of deposit. Deposit of $25.00 will be required for documents on Piney Woods Elementary school; deposit of $25.00 will be required for documents on Cotton Patch Elementary School. The deposit for both is $50.00. The total amount of the deposit will be refunded to each general contractor who submits a bonafide bid and returns the documents in good condition within seven (7) days after the date of opening bids. Sub-contractors and others who wish to obtain sets of the contract documents and general contractors who wish to obtain additional sets may do so by paying the actual cost of reproduction of same. All blueprints and specifications shall be returned to the architects.

Proposals shall be accompanied by a bid bond in an amount not less than five per cent (5%) of the total amount of the proposal.
No proposal may be withdrawn within a period of fifteen (15) days after the date of receipt of proposals. The owner reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Farm Bureau Activities

(By BYRON DYER)

Mayor Frank O. Miller, of Pembroke, was speaker at the Esia Farm Bureau Tuesday night. Mr. Miller, a farmer himself, who stated he owns "Need-More" farm, advised the group to make special effort to build a stronger Farm Bureau.

Mr. Miller, editor of the Pembroke Journal, has had an opportunity to study the future of agriculture more than most farmers, and predicted that unless the farmers of the South do find themselves into a strong Farm Bureau, they will have to pay dearly for it in the next few years. He stated that he thought H. L. Wingate, president of the Georgia Farm Bureau, was one of the great leaders of today and pleaded with the group to give him their support.

Farmers in this section have made much progress during recent years, Mr. Miller stated, but they have a long way to go yet to achieve the standard of living they deserve. He stated that he had been in seven foreign countries and lived in some sixteen states, yet this area is tops in his book, and he enumerated the many advantages found in this part of the state over the places he has lived in.

J. W. Roberts, forest ranger for the county, asked the group to support the efforts to keep the county green by helping control wild forest fires. There will be some prize money available to the chapter that does the best job of controlling fires, Mr. Roberts stated. Mrs. Dorothy Whitehead and Miss Joyce McDonald, Home Demonstration agents, and John Erickson met with the ladies at Esia, Mrs. Erickson was conducting a child survey on one of the professors at the University of Georgia.

Prom your fertilizer on all crops, especially cotton and peanuts, A. S. Hunnicutt, the new state cotton and peanut champion, advised the group on Wednesday night. He pointed out that, to make lots of cotton per acre, the land must be thoroughly prepared, use plenty of fertilizer, get a good stand and leave plenty of plants on the land, and then control all the insects, starting early with the control program and keep it up as long as the pests are bothering the cotton. Most farmers start too late and do not fight insects long enough. Mr. Hunnicutt thought peanuts should have right much fertilizer, either under them directly or to the previous crop, they should also be left thick in the drill and insects and diseases controlled. When 200 pounds or more of fertilizer is going to be used under a crop, it should be put on both sides of the drill, Mr. Hunnicutt stated.

R. L. Roberts, member of the county PMA committee, advised the group that the tobacco quotas will be reduced eight per cent from what they were in 1952, and that the peanut allotments will be about the same. M. L. Taylor, another member of the county committee, advised the group about the same way on Thursday night.

The Portal chapter voted to hold a community rally for their Farm Bureau in September, and set aside funds for providing the "bought" part of the supper, with the ladies agreeing to provide the pie. C. M. Cowart, the Portal president, warned the group what to expect from those that might be controlling the future of agriculture from a legislative point of view in light of their talks at the recent national Farm Bureau convention. He stated that he could not see but what there would be an effort to get cotton and some other crops grown in areas that can grow them at the cheapest, forcing this area to seek other crops for a living. Some of the safety measures to use in driving a tractor were shown to the group in a motion picture.
